Monday, August 27. 1705.

From the Paris Gazette, dated August 14

Rome, July 21.

THE 12th of this Month, the Courier whom the Count de Lamberg the Emperor's Ambassador had sent to Vienna, on Account of the Imprisonment of Signior Cavaletti who was in his Service, return'd hither with Letters, which as soon as the Count de Lamberg had receiv'd he gave Order for every thing to be got ready for him to depart from hence forthwith. He would not receive any Visit, not even from Signior Caunitz, Auditor of the German Rota, till after he had sent 5 times to desire an Audience of him, and then he gave him but a very short hearing. About Midnight he went away in his Coach accompanied by the Secretary of the Embassy, follow'd by 2 Caleshes and some of his Domestick Servants on Horseback, without acquainting the Court with this sudden Resolution, or demanding the usual Passport of the Post-Master. He stop'd a very little while before the Palace of the Envoy of Lorrain, whom he caus'd to be call'd out of Bed to him, and after he had spoken three Words to him he drove towards Luca. The 17th his German Servants whom he left behind, set out for Luca.

From the Paris Gazette, dated August 22.

Rome, July 28. The 22d Instant a Courier from the Count de Lamberg brought a Letter to Signior Caunitz Auditor of the Rota for the German Nation, in which the Count acquainted him with his Arrival at Sienna, and that he was preparing to proceed on his Journey to Lucca, where he would wait for further Orders from the Emperor. He sent to him at the same Time a Letter for Cardinal Paulucci, in which he desir'd his Eminency to inform the Pope, that his sudden Departure was occasion'd by an express Command from the Emperor his Master, who had order'd him to retire out of the Ecclesiastical State, that he might not be an Eyewitness of several things which he pretended to be prejudicial to his Imperial Majesty, and derogatory to the Honour of his Ministers representing him. The Letter was concluded with great Protections of all the Respect for his Holiness's Person and for the sacred See, that might conflict with his Fidelity to the Emperor. T'other Day a Sbirri pursuing a Thief who to save himself ran into the Court-yard of the Palace of Bigassini, in which the Cardinal de Janson is lodg'd, had the Temerity to follow him with his Pistol in his Hand. The Cardinal's Servants coming out, the Sbirri made off as fast as he could, but they ran after him, and he had much ado to save himself in a Church at a good Distance from the said Palace. The Cardinal de Janson has made great Complaints of the Insolence of this Sbirri, and 'tis not doubted he will get him punish'd for it. The Abbot Valentini, the Duke of Savoy's Agent, is dead of an Apoplexy.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 28, &c.

Rome, August 8. The Count de Lamberg the Imperial Ambassador, is at Luca still, the Difference between this Court and that of Vienna continuing as it was; but some Ministers are endeavouring underhand to make it up: In the mean time some Goods that Ambassador left behind him, are putting on board a Tartan to be sent to Luca. Several Congregations of State have been held of late, to consider of retrenching the Charge of the Apostolical Treasury, and among other things it was propos'd to disband half the Garrison of Ferrara, but the Majority of Votes was for keeping on Foot all his Holiness's Troops till a General Peace be made. The French continue in Possession of Mezola; a Courier is arriv'd from the Court of France, with Dispatches relating to the Complaints the Pope has caus'd to be made to that Court by his Nuncio, upon this Subject, but the Import of them is not yet divulg'd. We have Advice from Naples, that the Pope's Galleys are parted from those of Malta, to return to Civita Vecchia; the Resolution of cruising off the Coasts of Naples in Quest of the Corsairs of Barbary being chang'd; for fear least by boarding and taking any Vessels of that Country our Men should be infected with the Plague, which is very rife in Barbary. A Courier is pass'd through this City for Naples, to carry thither the News of the confederate Fleet's being come into the Mediterranean. 'Tis believ'd however, that the Expedition that Fleet is upon is to land Troops on the Coast of Catalonia, from whence we have Advice by the way of Genoa, that a certain number of Malecontents of Vich having taken Arms, give the Viceroy a great deal of Trouble.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated August 20.

Venice, Aug. 7. The Electores of Bavaria continues here, and the Talk of her going to the Elector in the Spanish Netherlands is ceas'd. Our last Advices from Genoa inform us, that an English Advice-Boat was arriv'd there with a Pacquet of Letters from Admiral-Shovel for the Duke of Savoy, Prince Eugene, and the Count de Lamberg the Emperor's Ambassador at present at Luca: Which Letters were immediately sent away by several Couriers.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 25.

Toulon, Aug. 18. Here are in this Port 44 Ships of War and 15 Galleys, ready to put to Sea: Some Vessels are sent out to get Intelligence of the Enemy's Fleet, of which we have had no News since they weigh'd Anchor from Cape Spartel. The Count de Toulouze has taken great Care to provide for the Security of this Coast; he has form'd the Marines into Battalions, caus'd Batteries to be rais'd, and in general omitted nothing that may contribute to the Defence of this Part of the Country, if the Enemy should attempt to make a Descent. The 8th Instant he set out from hence for Marseilles, to dispose things in the like Order there; and is suddenly expected back again.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated August 25.

Geneva, August 14. They write from Provence, that the French are apprehensive the Land Forces on board the English and Dutch Fleet which is come into the Mediterranean are design'd to be employ'd in making a Descent upon the Coast of that Province; that thereupon the Militia of that Province is rais'd; that Batteries are made at all the Places commodious for Landing along the Coast from Marseilles to Toulon; and that there is a talk of making

Making a Stacado in the Entrance of the last mention'd Port.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 27. &c.

Madrid, Aug. 3. 'Tis discours'd the Master of a Vessel that is arriv'd at Port St. Mary from Salley reports, that the Son of the King of Morocco has made himself Master of two thirds of his Father's Kingdom, and that he was in a fair way to be Master of Mequinez by the End of last Month. The Marquis of Villadarias has sent to Court a List of such Persons in Estremadura as he suspects to be secret Friends of the Archduke Charles, of whom 'tis said some are seiz'd and imprison'd at Port St. Mary. The Corregidors of Avila, Valladolid, Samora, Toro, Chivechula and Mancharcas, are remov'd from their Offices on Suspicion of their being disaffected to the Government, and others that are Creatures of the Court are put into their Places. The Governours, Corregidors, and Magistrates of Old Castile and Leon, who according to ancient Custom us'd to give Account of all Crimes and Misdemeanours that were committed within their respective Jurisdictions to the Royal Council of Castile; have had Orders sent to them to make Report for the future of all such Cases to the King himself; In which particular the ancient Power of the said Council will be very much diminish'd, and a new Addition will be made to the King's.

London, August 27.

On Saturday 2 Mails arriv'd from Lisbon. Letters from Gibraltar dated August 7 advise, that the Day before King Charles III. of Spain landed there, and view'd the Works of the Place, and in the Evening went aboard agen and fail'd to rejoin Sir Cloudilly Shovel who was gone on to the Eastward. The old Garrison of Gibraltar was taken on board the Men of War and Transports that stop'd with his Catholick Majesty; and some fresh Troops were landed to supply their Room.
